TRUSTEES CODE OF CONDUCT

Introduction

This code of conduct applies to all members of the Executive and committees (both elected and non-elected) of RSCDS Edinburgh and should be read in conjunction with the Constitution.

It describes appropriate standards of conduct and good practice in order to maintain the highest standards of integrity and stewardship; to ensure the Branch is effective, open and accountable.

Executive members are also Trustees of the Branch and, as such, carry additional legal duties and responsibilities, which are highlighted in italics when required. The most important legal duties and responsibilities are summarised in Duties of Charity Trustees (Lindsays WS, 2007) and Guidance for Charity Trustees (OSCR, 2009), both of which are included in the pack.

Selflessness

Trustees and committee members have a general duty to act in the best interests of the Branch as a whole. They should not do so in order to gain financial or other material benefits for themselves, their family, their friends or any organisation they come from or represent.

Integrity

Trustees and committee members:

- should not place themselves under any financial or other obligation to outside individuals or organisations that might seek to influence them in the performance of their role;
- as well as avoiding actual impropriety, should avoid any appearance of improper behaviour;
- should avoid accepting any gifts and hospitality as might be thought to influence their judgement.

Objectivity

Trustees

In carrying out their role, including making appointments (including trustee appointments), awarding contracts, recommending individuals for rewards and benefits or transacting other business, Trustees should ensure that decisions are made solely on merit.

Committee members

In their decision-making, Trustees and Committee members should ensure decisions are made solely on merit, in the best interests of the Branch and its members, and in line with the aims and objectives of the Branch.

Accountability

Trustees and Committee members:

- have a duty to comply with the law on all occasions in accordance with the trust placed in them, such as to preserve public confidence in the Branch;
- are accountable for their decisions and actions to members, service users and the public, and must submit themselves to scrutiny as appropriate to their role.

Confidentiality and Openness

Trustees and Committee members:

- should ensure that confidential material, including material about individuals, is handled with due care;
- should be as transparent as possible in their decisions and actions, and should be prepared to give reasons for decisions, restricting information only when the best interests of the Branch so demands

Honesty and Good Faith

Trustees and committee members:

- have a duty to declare any interests relating to their role and to take steps to resolve any potential conflict arising. Where private interests may conflict with duties/responsibilities, this must be resolved in the best interests of the Branch;
- must make relevant declarations of interest in the different circumstances and roles they play both within and outside the Branch.

Leadership

Trustees and committee members:

- should promote and support the principles of leadership by example;
- must ensure they have a clear understanding of the role and scope of authority delegated and conduct working relations with courtesy and respect;
- should conduct themselves in a manner which does not damage or undermine the reputation of the Branch, individually or collectively and should refrain from participating in any activity which is in conflict with the objects or which might damage the reputation of the Branch

Skill, Care and Diligence

Trustees:

- are expected to attend meetings, engage with issues and take professional advice when appropriate;
- are expected to make decisions collectively and take joint responsibility for them

Conflict of interest

Any Trustee/committee member:

- with a financial interest in a matter arising, should declare the nature of this interest as soon as possible and expect to withdraw from the meeting whilst the matter is under discussion and/or a decision has been reached, unless the chairman/convenor has granted a dispensation to remain;
- with a personal interest in a matter arising, which creates a real danger of bias (that is affects her/him or a member of her/his household more than the generality affected by the decision) should declare the nature of this interest and expect to withdraw from the meeting whilst the matter is under discussion and/or a decision has been reached, unless the chairman/convenor has granted a dispensation to remain;
- with any other interest, which creates no real danger of bias but might reasonably cause others to think it could influence their decision, should declare the nature of the interest but expect to remain in the meeting, participate in the discussion and vote, unless the chairman/convenor has clear and transparent reasons for requesting withdrawal from the meeting whilst the matter is under discussion and/or a decision has been reached;
- should expect that business interests will be noted on the Register of Interests where a conflict of interest might reasonably be expected to arise in relation to decisions being made;
- should consult with the relevant chairman/convenor in the first instance if in any doubt about the application of these rules: in any difference of opinion the decision of the Chairman will be final.

RSCDS Edinburgh may pay a trustee for the supply of any services (i.e. Teachers and Musicians) over and above normal trustee duties. The decision to do this must be made by those trustees who will not benefit, and agree it is in the charity's best interests to make the payment.

RISK MANAGEMENT

Statement of Policy

RSCDS Edinburgh defines risk as the threat or possibility that an action or event will adversely or otherwise affect the Branch's ability to achieve its objectives.

PURPOSE

Risk can manifest itself in many ways, for example:

KEY RISKS	EXAMPLES
Financial risk:	Financial losses in any part of the branch
Reputational risk:	Loss of reputation in the community
Operational risk:	Loss of a key volunteer

This policy explains the underlying approach to risk management, identifies high level roles and the main procedures

APPROACH TO RISK MANAGEMENT

Risk is managed through the operation of controls, checks and balances and the effective implementation of procedures. Controls do not eliminate risk and RSCDS Edinburgh must recognise the extent to which it will accept residual risk and how overall risk is to be actively managed. The following key principles underpin the Branch's approach to risk management and internal control:

- The Trustees have final responsibility for risk management within RSCDS Edinburgh;
- An open and receptive approach to managing risk issues is our policy;
- RSCDS Edinburgh takes conservative and prudent recognition and disclosure of the financial and non-financial implications of risks;
- Major risks are identified and monitored on a regular basis.

ROLE OF TRUSTEES

The Trustees have a fundamental role to play in the management of risk. Our approach to risk is:

- To act with risk-avoidance more in mind than risk-taking;
- To undertake higher risk activities only after risks have been assessed and a management plan is in place;
- To consider and ensure that any adverse consequences of risks consciously taken will not place the Branch in jeopardy;
- To comply with and maintain high standards of corporate governance;
- To ensure an effective system of internal management and controls is in place;
- To monitor risk management quarterly and review risks annually.

RISK MANAGEMENT PROCESS

The following is the process for identifying and managing risk:

1. Establish risk policy.
2. Identify risks.
3. Assess risks.
4. Evaluate what action needs to be taken.
5. Monitor and assess regularly.

SAFEGUARDING CHILDREN AND VULNERABLE ADULTS

Statement of Policy

RSCDS Edinburgh's policy is to foster inclusion and to ensure that any 'vulnerable people', children, young people or adults, are protected and kept safe from harm whilst they are with members of the RSCDS, for example, attending events or classes run by RSCDS Edinburgh. It is expected that:

- All members working with or having unsupervised access to vulnerable people should hold the appropriate level of Criminal Record Disclosure (eg Disclosure Scotland, CRB Enhanced Disclosure)
- All members will have access to training, advice and support to help them to understand and fulfil their role where this involves vulnerable people
- Activities will take place in a safe and secure environment, which has been risk assessed as appropriate to the participating group and activity
- Appropriate action is taken in response to any concerns about abuse/ allegations of abuse

Definitions

For the purpose of this document (and as specified by The Police Act 1997 (Enhanced Criminal Record Certificates) (Protection of Vulnerable Adults) (Scotland) Regulations 2002):

- a child is a person under the age of 18, and
- a person may be considered a vulnerable adult if they are 18 years or over and have either a learning or physical disability, a physical or mental illness or drug/alcohol addiction or a reduction in physical or mental capacity which leads to reduced ability to protect themselves from assault, abuse or neglect.

This policy supports managing our expenditure by ensuring that appropriate controls are in place & that a clear and transparent policy and procedure is in place to meet Trustee expenses and out of pocket expenses incurred on behalf of RSCDS Edinburgh. Payment of reasonable expenses is a good way of ensuring that all trustees participate in running the charity and, more generally, of ensuring that being a trustee is open to all.
